

Annie Krol

Anne Victoria Krol was studying Environmental Studies and Women's Studies at the Allegheny College when she decided to take a semester abroad in India. She interned at Jatan Sansthan from the middle of October till the first days of December 2011. Apart from taking part in the activities of the Apna Jatan Centers Annie did a research project on the maternal health situation of women in the Project areas of Apna Jatan in collaboration with her Co-Intern Mary.

Annie's statement on her internship at Jatan: "My interest in working at Jatan was reproductive health and rights. I wanted to help women gain access to and knowledge about modern contraceptives. I conducted research in Udaipur regarding slum-dwelling women and reproductive health. I hope my research has been helpful in illuminating what Jatan can do to help these brave women and help them achieve a higher quality of Life."
